Let the season begin!

This perennial consumer favorite returns to the scene bursting with flavor... and possibilities!

- Strawberries are the first fruit to ripen in the spring... a traditional seasonal harbinger.
- Strawberries are members of the rose family – sharing sweet scents – and are the only fruit to wear their seeds on the outside.
- Native American Indians called strawberries “heart-seed berries” and pounded them into their traditional corn-meal bread. Discovering the great taste of the Native Americans bread, colonists decided to create their own version, which became an American favorite that we all know and love... Strawberry Shortcake.
- 94% of United States households consume strawberries and over 53% of kids (7 – 9) picked strawberries as their favorite fruit.
- While strawberries are grown in every state, California produces about 75% of the U.S. crop.
